Room 4 News

Hello room four families,

The end of the school year is always filled with highs and lows, the excitement of summer and the conclusion of another year.

For me, the hardest part of the end of the year is saying goodbye to my kindergarteners. In Montessori we are gifted a longer time with children. We have 3 years to observe them, watch their progress, nurture their interests, and witness their development and growth. So of course our bonds grow deep and it's hard to let them go.

May themes include: Flowers, planting, and Africa

Kindergarten Note: Graduation is May 24th at 10am.

Montessori Piece (In a nutshell)

Montessori in a nutshell, could be described as an education that recognizes all children as active learners who build themselves through experiences with three components: the environment, an adult who models behavior, prepares the learning environment, and links the child to it. Freedom and boundaries that foster responsibilities and independence. These three components, environment, adult, and the balance of freedom with responsibility act as pillars that scaffold and strengthen the framework.

Thank you to all you that took the time to read my philosophy piece that I hope gave you more insight on Montessori and all the benefits you are giving your child. Way to go!!
